Take a tasty trip to Korea— without leaving the Highlands

Tired of making the same old dinners, day after day, week after week? Curious about flavours and dishes from other parts of the world? Want to improve your cooking skills?

SIRCH Community Services has just the thing to rejuvenate your meal preparations: Korean Cooking Classes!

In these classes, you will learn to cook authentic, popular Korean dishes: bulgogi jeongol (hot pot), dumpling jeongol, soondubu jjigae (soft tofu stew), and samgyetang (ginseng chicken soup).

"I am passionate about cooking, and sharing my Korean heritage with others," said class instructor Lydia Kim of SIRCH Community Services. "You don't need to be an experienced cook to participate. Just be open to trying new skills and trying new tasty dishes!"

A graduate of SIRCH's Cook It Up restaurant industry job training program, Kim moved to Haliburton County from Peterborough a number of years ago. She originally emigrated from Korea when she was a teenager. "Food helps bring people together. When family and friends work together in the kitchen, they enjoy their time together, create memories, and the meal tastes just that much better." She encourages friends and couples to sign up for the classes so they can share and socialize together.

Each class, you'll learn how to prepare a specific Korean dish, then sit down together and eat your delicious lunch! You'll take back recipes so you can make the dish at home too! Proceeds from the classes will help support SIRCH Community Service's food initiatives, like the Community Kitchen.

SIRCH's Lydia Kim adds lettuce to a bowl of bibimbap at one of the Korean cooking classes offered last year. The fall class schedule has been announced. You can join one or all four. /File photo

There are four Korean Cooking Classes in fall 2019:
Monday, Oct. 21 - Bulgogi Jeongol (hot pot)
Monday, Nov. 4 - Dumpling Jeongol
Monday, Nov. 18 - Soondubu Jjigae (soft tofu stew)
Monday, Dec. 2 - Samgyetang (ginseng chicken soup)

The classes will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at SIRCH Central, located at 2 Victoria Street, Haliburton (next to the laundromat). Class size is limited to eight people, so there's opportunities to ask questions, participate, and assemble the dish. The cost per person per class is $65. You can pick and choose what class you'd like to attend. Or, register for three classes and get the fourth class for half price. Register and pay for the cooking classes by calling SIRCH at 705-457-1742, or drop by 49 Maple Avenue, Unit 4, in Haliburton.

Haliburton residents and visitors have previously enjoyed Kim's cooking at SIRCH's Korean Cooking Classes held in spring 2019, and to rave reviews at the International Bistro at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School during the summer.

LCBO outlets bubbling up around county

JENN WATT
County Life Editor

Tory Hill is one of 302 communities in Ontario the LCBO has listed for potential LCBO convenience outlets. Application packages are now available to businesses interested in applying for authorization to sell alcohol in designated communities.

The announcement made Sept. 10 is part of the provincial government's push to increase access to alcohol, with the LCBO committing to authorize 200 convenience outlets by the spring.

Asked how communities are chosen, the press office for LCBO said via email: "The government of Ontario, in consultation with the LCBO determines the communities for the LCBO Convenience Outlet program. The LCBO Convenience Outlet program provides access to beverage alcohol products to communities that do not otherwise have convenient access to an LCBO retail store or Convenience outlet."

Interested businesses that meet the criteria are entered into a lottery in each community for the opportunity to run the convenience outlet. They receive full authorization once they demonstrate they are operationally ready for business, the press office said.

In June, the LCBO listed the villages of Harcourt, Fort Irwin and Norland as eligible for convenience outlets.

"A retailer in Harcourt has been approved for authorization and once this retailer becomes operationally ready for business, they will be awarded full authorizations and can then place orders for beverage alcohol. In Norland, the Norland Food Market has been approved for authorization and is now selling beverage alcohol," the press office said.

"The Fort Irwin Marina was awarded an LCBO Convenience Outlet authorization and is currently selling beverage alcohol."

Sylvan Shore taking their tunes to area's small halls

IN TODAY'S digital world you can crank up your laptop and listen to just about any piece of music ever recorded.

What the laptop can't give you, however, are original tunes, written and performed live by local musicians in the relaxed ambience of a historic building.

There's an opportunity to do just that this week when Sylvan Shore performs at the historic church in Irondale. It's at a fundraising concert set for Saturday evening.

JIM POLING SR.

Sylvan Shore is the duo of vocalist Kate Hall and singer-instrumentalist Andrew von Zuben. Both are prolific songwriters with Kate interested in country-folk music and Andrew favouring progressive rock.

Saturday's performance is part of Sylvan Shore's "small halls tour," a concept of bringing live music to people in small regional communities. Many of these communities have churches or community halls struggling to remain active and vibrant.

"We started to think about small halls in our community," says Hall. "We wanted to think about keeping these buildings vibrant so we said let's create a little tour . . . ."

The concept of small hall tours is spreading. It seems to be a Canadian idea that has caught on in Australia, which now has an annual Festival of Small Halls.

Small hall festivals appeared in Prince Edward Island roughly 10 years ago. Then the idea caught on in the Ottawa Valley and spread across Eastern Ontario.

Kate Hall and Andrew von Zuben are Sylvan Shore. They are performing at the Irondale Church on Saturday as part of their "small hall tour," celebrating the community spaces around the Highlands. The Irondale Church was built in 1887 as a gift to the community by Charles Pusey, who established the Toronto Iron Company. /Photo submitted

Hall was part of a performing arts symposium in Haliburton a few years ago and heard two women speak about small hall festivals.

"It made me thi nk of all of the small halls – churches, and community centres – that we have here in Haliburton County that may be under utilized and struggling to remain viable."

She and Andrew started performing together about two years ago and thought about unique ways to present their music in the Haliburton community. The small halls idea seemed perfect.

She says that the acoustics in many small churches are excellent and ideal for entertaining audiences of 50 to 80 people.

The Irondale Church, with its hardwood pews, wooden floor and Gothic arched wood framed windows, is said to have unusually good acoustics. It was built in 1887 with an unusual feature – a gambrel roof, commonly known as a barn roof.

It was a gift to the community from Charles Pusey, the entrepreneur who established the Toronto Iron Company to mine the iron ore deposits of the Irondale area. He also established the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway, which was abandoned and dismantled in 1960.

In 2010 the Anglican Diocese decided the church was no longer viable and closed its doors. The church now is overseen by the Bark Lake Cultural Developments, a charitable organization, and has been given a heritage designation by Minden Hills council.

Hall says the duo plans to perform in other small halls around the county.

Their promotional material says that their audiences "can expect to hear a few country laments in three-quarter time, a love song or two, some rockin' tunes and a couple of spoken word pieces thrown in for good measure."

Funds raised at the Saturday concert will go to assisting ongoing restoration work at the church. Tickets can be purchased online at www.IrondaleOntario.ca/events, or by calling or texting 705-457-8438.

Top 10 reasons to grow tomatoes

A LOT OF PEOPLE associate this time of year with autumn colours or hunting season. I happen to also associate it with my annual failed tomato crop. It's got so bad that Jenn actually said "Maybe growing tomatoes isn't for you."

Well, that assumes you grow them for the obvious reasons. Here are the 10 reasons I grow them.

1. In case I need to throw something at the person in the stocks in the town square.

STEVE GALEA
Humour Columnist

2. Even rotten, they're better than kale.
3. You can have a lot of fun with rotten tomatoes.
4. It's the next best thing to personal growth.
5. One day, there might be a worldwide shortage of tomato sauce.
6. It's the only acceptable way of showing people your tomatoes.
7. I just love the colour red.
8. I sometimes need bait and they are a great way to attract tomato-worms.
9. Because, by God, this is a still a free country!
10. I need to justify that pile of manure somehow.

Pride

'Contentment, belonging, connection, true self'
A calm in the knowing that time
Holds space for awareness that real growing brings
In life's all-enlightening climb

In past etymology, 'proud' once meant 'brave'
A valour when going to war
Old English, Old French called this 'courage' at first
Late Latin meant 'useful' before

Then later in history, 'pride' could mean 'sin'
Distort to a concept unkind
Where vanity, smugness and self-righteous strut
Brought ego and hubris to mind

Events in the '60s gave birth to new call
To love every colour and stripe
Of gentleness, truthful expression and rights
Share one common rainbow peace pipe

It's not just for unicorns, children and tales
Of leprechauns, grand pots of gold
Each colour in spectrum combines as pure light
A rainbow is love seven-fold

Pure love works its magic without seven 'sins'
In innocence, kindness and trust
Its voice through the past and through time yet to come
Was nature's expectant stardust

By Deborah J Reed

Foster families needed for local children and youth

Kawartha Haliburton Children's Aid Society welcomes individuals from all communities in Peterborough, City of Kawartha Lakes, and Haliburton to become foster parents to ensure inclusive and responsive services for children and youth.

"We are really calling on the community to step up and help children and families who are in crisis," explains Jennifer Wilson, executive director of Kawartha Haliburton Children's Aid Society (KHCAS). "Our role is to connect children and families in our communities to local services that will support and strengthen them in their time of need, including counselling, various therapy services, food banks, and other critical social and human services."

"But when living at home is not safe, and there are not extended family or other adults in the community who can care for a child, the child comes into the temporary care of our agency and lives with a foster family," said Wilson. "During that time, we work with the child's family to re-establish a safe home environment. The goal is for children to return home to live safely with their families."

Because children do best with the least amount of disruption, it's important, where possible, they live in their current neigbourhood or community so they can attend their school and regular activities.

"We encourage individuals from all communities to apply to foster because you are needed," said Wendy Gordon, foster care supervisor at Kawartha Haliburton Children's Aid Society. "We welcome and encourage foster parents from all backgrounds, and need diversity of race, faith, gender, and sexual orientation. We need foster parents who are willing to support children's religious, cultural, and racial backgrounds and support those who identify as 2SLGBTQ+."

KHCAS would love to meet you and answer your questions about fostering. We encourage you to stop by and say hello to us at these upcoming events in the community:

Sunday, Sept. 29 1 p.m. – 4 p.m. Mom2Mom sale at Evinrude Center 911 Monaghan Road, Peterborough

Tuesday, Oct. 8 6 p.m. – 8 p.m. KHCAS Peterborough office 1100 Chemong Road, Peterborough

Thursday, Oct. 10 6 p.m. – 8 p.m. KHCAS Lindsay office 42 Victoria Avenue North, Lindsay

To learn more about being a foster parent, please visit the fostering section of the KHCAS website or call us at 1-800-661-2843 ext. 1221 to talk and ask questions.

Minden Hills looking for volunteers to recognize

SUE TIFFIN
County Life Staff

As you are reading this article, you know someone in Minden who deserves a volunteer award. Maybe you see them at the local school, helping students with reading, or making sure a hungry child gets a snack. You might have a friend in a service club or organization who is always going above and beyond as part of that club. They might be shovelling driveways on your street, just because, or a teenager giving up homework time in order to help at a neighbourhood event.

The Township of Minden Hills would like to know who they are, too, to help distribute their annual volunteer awards and are asking for members of the public to consider nominating someone they know.

"I think it's a really nice way to honour those people who are doing something in our community for the community," said Elisha Weiss, community development coordinator. "They may see it as a small job, but in the grand scheme of things, they're contributing to this event which makes up the fabric of this community."

Weiss is asking for nominations for several categories.

"Putting an event together is a lot of work, coming out to volunteer for the event is a huge commitment and I think people should be recognized for their efforts," she said.

The Ross Rigney Award is awarded to an outstanding youth between the ages of 12 and 19 in the Minden Hills area, in recognition of the amalgamated township's first reeve, Ross Rigney, and the value he placed on mentoring youth and encouraging their participation in the community. Past winners include Drew Hewitt, Spencer Devolin and Denniella and Daniel Rivard.

The Minden Hills Good Neighbour Award honours an unsung hero, someone who offers a single act of kindness or has done multiple deeds benefitting many people.

"Nominees for this award should be someone who has taken the initiative to do spontaneous or unheralded deeds, rather than participation in group activities such as those with community groups or associations that result in Minden Hills being a more enjoyable community to live in," reads the criteria information page. Past winners include Ken Casey, Diane Peacock and Casey Cox.

The Gordon A Monk award for volunteerism and citizenship is awarded in recognition of Gord Monk's achievements and is awarded to someone who has demonstrated extensive volunteerism over an extended period of time in multiple areas of service to the community, township, or otherwise organized special interest groups or service clubs. Past winners include Linda Brandon, Marilynne Lesperance and Sinclair Russell.

The Arts and Culture Award is given to an individual or group for significant contribution to the art and culture life of Minden Hills through the development, support, preservation or promotion of local heritage, culture, music, visual, performing or literary arts. Past winners include the Minden and District Lions Club.

The Sports and Recreation Award is awarded to an individual, team or group whose athletic accomplishments have brought fame to themselves and their community or those that exemplify healthy active living in Minden Hills. Past winners include Craig and Tammy Smith.

The Trillium Award is given to an individual, group or business whose horticultural, community beautification, civic pride, protection, conservation or enhancement of the environment efforts support the Communities in Bloom program. Past winners include Liz and Nick Case.

"There are so many people out there who deserve these awards, and it would be nice for the community to recognize those people to put that nomination forward so we as a committee can be more aware of it as well," said Weiss.

For more information, visit mindenhills.ca/volunteering or call 705-286-3154.

WE DON'T BREW OUR BEER FOR THE AWARDS.

BUT HE DOES!

Our brewmaster, Andrew Kohnen, threw away a successful career in logistics to pursue his dream of reconnecting with the brewing roots of his family. This carried him to the UK's prestigious Brewlab in Sunderland, England, where he procured the alchemy that would drive his signature brewing style.

He took what he could from there and ventured to Scotland, Cornwall, and ultimately to Krefeld, Germany, working in the same brewery that had belonged to his ancestors. He came home to Canada for Hockley.

You could call it dumb, but we call it destiny.

Haliburton Highlands Redmen running back Chris Dobbin escapes the clutches of a Lindsay Collegiate defender in last Friday's junior football game. Dobbin teamed up with running partner Peter Brohman to thrash the Spartans 46-1 in their season opener. Details are on page 12.

Province intent on maintaining hospital

There are no plans to close down the Minden Hospital — at least as far as the Ministry of Health is concerned — says Victoria Haliburton MPP Dennis Drainville.

Responding to letters and calls he has received from constituents concerned about rumours of the hospital closing, Drainville has issued a letter (see page 7) clalifying the government's position.

"I want to take this opportunity to assure you tht the government has no plans to closedown the Minden hospital" he says in the letter. Contacted Friday, though, he admitted he is not as certain about the intentions of the board of St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Minden Hospital is owned and managed by St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough. Drainville says he fears the board may want to unload the Minden Hospital.

The future of the Minden Hospital is not an issue with the provincial government, says Drainville. It is an issue for St. Josephs. "It's a very grave question," says Drainville.

Figures released by St. Josephs Hospital in April show the Minden and Haliburton Hospitals running at a $270,000 deficit. The board's fiscal advisory committee examined the matter and concluded in June that "drastic reductions in service" at the hospitals in Haliburton County would result unless the

Guilford lashed by high winds, rain

High winds and heavy rain whipped through West Guilford late Friday afternoon toppling trees, cutting power and telephone lines in several areas.

The storm was the result of a cold front moving through the area, which broke the three day spell of hot humid weather the Highlands experienced last week.

The storm left most areas of the Highlands with little damage, but in West Guilford, trees were uprooted and broken by the force of the weather.

The largest area of damage seemed to be concentrated behind the Guilford Boy Gift Shoppe building. There numerous large white pines were ripped from the ground or snapped in half. The tumbling trees brought down power and telephone lines.

Several large pines adjacent to the Guilford ball diamond were also uprooted by the force of the storm.

Some observers in the community describe the storm as a "twister" although sightings of a funnel cloud could not be confirmed. Residents said that just before the storm hit, it became very dark with heavy rains driven by severe winds.

Most areas of the Highlands experienced severe weather Friday afternoon, but West Guilford seemed to have suffered the worst.

Lutterworth office set ablaze

A major clean-up is expected after the Lutterworth Municipal office was set on fire early Sunday morning.

The Minden Fire Department were quickly on the scene, with the help of Stanhope's fire department who brought extra air packs, to battle the blaze.

Damage due to the fire was limited to a few areas, most noticeably under the steps to the basement and to the ceiling and floor areas adjacent to the steps.

However, there was extensive smoke and water damage to the building located on Highway 35 and a major clean-up job is expected.

There were no injuries as a result of the blaze and the cause is still unknown.

Bears: They're coming out of the woods to feed but they're not causing unusual problems

Although there have been numerous sightings of bears throughout the area this season, they are not posing an serious problem.

The Ministry of Natural Resources has not received an unusual number of reports of nuisance bears this year, says Stan Flemming, area manager. He says the live traps were taken out only three or four times this year to remove nuisance bears and the office has received only a few calls about bears at the dumps.

The county has a good healthy bear population, yet for the past few years most have avoided populated areas. An excellent crop of berries last summer provided a food source which provided an abundance of food for bears and encouraged them to stay in the woods. The berry crop this summer, however, was poor and more bears seem to be coming out into the open to find food.

The ministry does not attempt to remove bears unless they become a nuisance. If, for example, they stay in a populated area for two or three days, the ministry may trap the bear and release it elsewhere. Occasionally, a bear may have to be destroyed.

To keep bears away from your property, Flemming advises people not to leave food or garbage out. Normally, bears will only come into a populated area to find food. If there is none to be found, they will look elsewhere. Bears are also attracted to apple trees and will often return to feed for several days to feed. Once the apples are gone, though, so are the bears.
